

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE RALLY

THE STATE CONVENTION IN SOUTHINGTON YESTERDAY.

Voted by the Connecticut Body to Take Up the Study of Political Science—A Letter Read from Susan B. Anthony—The Election of Officers for the ensuing year.

Southington, Oct. 30.—The state convention of the Connecticut Woman's Suffrage association was opened in town hall here at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

In the absence of Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker of Hartford, the president of the association, the meeting was opened by Mrs. L. B. Bacon of Hartford. There were about fifty members present.

The address of welcome was made by Estella H. Barnes of this place. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Mary J. Rogers of Meriden, was read and showed that the receipts for the year had been $450, leaving a balance on hand after all expenses had been paid of $117.

At this afternoon's session the reports of the county secretaries were read. Mrs. Russell of Hartford said that the sentiment in favor of woman's suffrage had increased during the past year and that the action of the last legislature towards the suffrage movement was evidence of it.

Ella F. Bennett of Willimantic said that in Windham county there were 692 women taxpayers; in Meriden there were 1,200 women paying taxes. Miss Bennett said that in Windham county there were many farms that had been abandoned by men which are now being run by women.

Upon the suggestion of the national association it was voted by the Connecticut delegates to take up the study of political science. A letter was read from Susan B. Anthony wishing the Connecticut association success. Tonight Mrs. Yates will address the convention.

Besides the out of town delegates present there were about twenty-five local members in attendance. The following committees were appointed:

ASHES TO ASHES.

Solid Common Sense.

It is scarcely possible to condense more of this scant commodity into a few lines than the Erie Herald does, when it says that, looked at from a sanitary standpoint, very few will be found to question the superiority of cremation over earth burial. In the former there is no process of slow decay to contaminate the atmosphere and pollute water supplies. All impurities are quickly consumed in the purifying flames and absolutely nothing remains to endanger the well-being of the living.

If cleanliness is next to godliness, surely, cremation is the proper method to adopt for disposal of the dead. To a rightly balanced mind, unswayed by sickly sentiment, there can be nothing repulsive about the idea. Indeed, when fully considered, the idea of slowly rotting in the hole in the ground, becoming food for worms and endangering the health of the living, must be infinitely more repulsive.

While it is probable that, if put to a vote, the majority would be in favor of earth burial, that fact merely shows a lack of investigation and consideration of the subject on the part of the people and proves nothing except the tendency to cling to established customs. The force of the arguments presented by the advocates of cremation has never been successfully assailed.

Y. W. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING.

Held at Davenport Church Chapel Yesterday—Office is Located—Addresses by Mrs. Beebe of New York.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association was held in the chapel of the Davenport church yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. D. Dana presiding.

The report of the secretary, Miss Zelle Bishop, was as follows:

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The fifteenth annual report of the New Haven Young Women's Christian association brings to your attention the result of the year's work, which marks a period of successful activity as yet unparalleled in the history of the home.

One hundred and seventy-five young women have been in the home from October 1, 1894, to October 1, 1895, remaining from one week to one year. The average number per month has been thirty-eight, as against thirty-two the preceding year. Two hundred and fifty-five were supplied with lodgings.

Five thousand and forty-three meals have been served to transients.

Of the one hundred and seventy-five regular boarders one hundred and sixty-eight were Protestants and seven Catholics.

The fourth floor of the new building was opened early in the year, adding ten more rooms, with accommodations for thirteen young women.

The industrial and educational classes for the year were as follows:

Practical nursing, 12.
Literature, 14.
Plain sewing, 18.
Education, 25.
Vocal music, 31.
Embroidery, 44.
Physical culture, 57.

The work of each class has been characterized by serious and earnest endeavor on the part of teachers and pupils, and the results have been highly gratifying. Among those whom we have to remember, with thanks, for services volunteered as instructors are:

Miss Lindsey and Miss Bartlett, who have regularly taken charge of a large class in embroidery. Also Mrs. Rowe, who conducted a class in literature in a most interesting manner. During the winter several talks were given on "Topics of the Day," which were greatly enjoyed by the members of the home.

The young women who received value instruction in practical nursing, given by Mrs. Dr. Peckham, have been very successful, many of them having obtained regular employment since graduation. Calls are constantly received from physicians requiring such service as these young women are capable of rendering, viz., attendance upon the sick and aged. They do not claim the title nor the wages of "trained nurses."

A day class in practical nursing was also established, consisting of thirty-two ladies, who desired the information for use in their homes.

Classes for the coming year are now being formed in plain sewing, embroidery, dress cutting, millinery, physical culture, vocal music, elocution and home nursing. Already it has been found necessary to start a second class in plain sewing. The number seeking admission to all of the classes greatly exceeds that of former years.

One hundred and thirty-five associate members have enjoyed the privileges of the reading room, classes and library, to which forty-three volumes have been added.

The devotional committee, having in charge the weekly prayer meetings report an increased attendance. Among those who have led or addressed the meetings were Mrs. Hume, Mrs. Charles Fox, Mrs. S. B. Love, Miss Landford, Mrs. Adam, Mrs. Macphie, Mrs. Dickerson, Mrs. Champion and Messrs. Scarborough and Lynch. Invitation is extended to friends to attend, as added interest and profit would be assured by their presence.

The Bible class was conducted by Messrs. Grant and Lynch with eminent success.

The committee has felt greatly the absence of Mrs. Hume, who for many years has been the inspiration of their work, but they are strengthened in the knowledge that although at present unable to give active service, the work so long loved by her is kept in prayerful remembrance.

It has been found impossible to furnish as many entertainments as formerly, the disarranging of the dining hall resulting therefrom proving too great an inconvenience. Notwithstanding this, however, several very delightful ones were given.

Among those who kindly contributed to this part of the home's social life were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Porter, Mrs. C. E. Sargent, Miss Denison, Mrs. Vishno and Miss Wells. An interesting lecture was given also by the Rev. Dr. Lambert of New York, whose subject was the Holy Land.

The season closed with a class reception; at the same time an exhibition of the work of the industrial classes was held.

We were called upon during the summer months to part with two of our number—Mrs. F. W. Watterson, who died in Glasgow, and Mrs. D. S. Thomas, both of whom were actively interested in the work of the home.

Thus another year closes. With hearts full of gratitude to those whose ready help has enabled us to meet the demands of our work, which yearly broadens, we go on trustfully and with confidence, aiming to provide a safe and happy home for young women who are striving to become self-supporting, or who are already in contact with the outer world.

Many are the cheering words received from those who have shared the life of the home and the loving care of the home-keepers.

In behalf of the Board of Managers, ZELLE BISHOP, Recording Secretary.

Mrs. H. B. Rowe, treasurer of the association, reported receipts of $9,896.63 and disbursements of $11,190.12. There is now $1,293.96 in the treasury. There was a balance of $2,000 left over from last year. Of the disbursements $2,390 was spent in fitting up the top story of the association building. Only $243 was raised during the year toward the payment of the $11,000 mortgage on the building.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Beebe, president of the New York Y. W. C. A., who delivered a most interesting talk on the work of the association in New York.

The exchange will be open to-day from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. J. D. Dana.
Honorary president—Mrs. H. B. Bigelow.

Vice presidents—Mrs. T. W. T. Currier, Mrs. S. S. Fisher, Mrs. C. B. Bowers, Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. S. L. Cadby, Mrs. S. D. Hume, Mrs. Tracy Peck, Mrs. E. M. Reed.

MELBA NOT COMING.

Debarred by illness—Postponement of concert.

A telegram from the management announces that the Melba concert in this city must be postponed, notwithstanding the large sale of seats. Her attempt to sing four times a week, with the necessary travel, has so prostrated her that this postponement is necessary. She will come to New Haven later. The money received will be refunded to ticket purchasers at box office.

MANY WEDDINGS.

The Marriage of Thomas A. Bassett of this city and Miss Natalie Wilson of Bridgeport, last evening—Other Weddings.

Bridgeport, Oct. 30.—The marriage of Miss Natalie, the bright and charming daughter of Mr. W. Henry Wilson, to Thomas Andrew Bassett, sergeant of the New Haven Grays, took place at the home of the bride's parents at 419 Fairfield avenue at 6:30 this evening.

As the interested parties are popular members of Bridgeport and New Haven society, the wedding was a swell affair, and an event of social importance.

The ceremony took place before a temporary altar in the drawing room, and the officiating clergyman was Rev. Herbert D. Cone of Christ Episcopal church, of whose church the bride is a member.

The room was in green and white chrysanthemums. It was intended that in the decorations the flowers used should be Marguerites, the flower of St. Margaret's, of which the bride and bridesmaid are graduates. But it was impossible to secure them and the project was given up. Before the ceremony and as the marriage party marched from the library to the altar in the parlor, Joseph May's Banks club rendered a wedding march. During the reading of the Episcopal services the club played Dr. Koven's "Oh, Promise Me," in subdued tones, barely heard above the voice of the clergyman.

The bride's gown was of white mousseline de soie, with pearl trimmings, the skirt very wide and full, and the body combined with chiffon. The veil was fastened with a diamond crescent, the wedding gift of the groom. Miss Charlotte Burr of Black Rock, a classmate of the bride, attended as maid of honor and bridesmaid. Her gown was also mousseline de soie, but over pink silk. The best man was David Clegg of Waterbury. The ushers, all of New Haven, were Clarence Hooker, Minott Osborn and Theodore Cox, and Lieutenant Clarence Dann.

The bride, who has been just nineteen summers, is a very popular member of Bridgeport society and will be greatly missed hereafter as she is to live in New Haven, at 238 Lawrence street, where the groom has built and handsomely furnished a lovely home for his bride. Miss Wilson was educated at the Golden Hill seminary and later graduated from St. Margaret's seminary in Waterbury. She was the maid of honor a year ago at the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Carl Macomber, nee Miss Alice Wilson.

Thomas Andrew Bassett, the groom, is a highly esteemed young man, and a junior member of the successful and widely known firm of John H. Phillips & Son of New Haven. He first met Miss Wilson at an evening reception in this city last fall. It was a case of love at first sight.

A wedding supper followed the service. The dining room was in pink and green, the flowers being maidenhair, carnations and roses. The reception was from 7 till 9.

The bride is a granddaughter of Jacob Kiefer and a niece of Mrs. William E. Burnham. She received many elegant wedding presents.

The wedding gifts are of silverware, choice cut glass, clocks, lamps, rare china, fine pictures and books, and fill an entire room in the house, with many more to come. The chest of silverware and pearl-handled cutlery from the parents of the groom, an elegant big hall clock from John H. Phillips and a big berry dish from the New Haven Grays were noticeable in the lot.

A number of New Haven Grays accompanied the New Haven party. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Bassett took the 9:30 train for New York. After an extensive tour in the south the couple will take up their permanent residence at their new home in New Haven.

Among the New Haven guests were: Miss Justine Ingersoll, Miss Rebecca Orton, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. York, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Earle and Miss Lola Earle, Miss Bertha Bradley, Mrs. Dorothea Siebert, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bassett, Miss Bassett, Edward Bassett, Other out-of-town guests were:

Miss Harriet Russell of New Britain, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Goss, Miss Mary R. Hillard, Rev. Francis T. Russell and Mr. and Mrs. James Burnett of Waterbury, the Misses Edna and Jessie Thomas of Thomaston, Miss Bessie Kinsam of Thomaston, Miss Catherine Wainwright, Dr. and Mrs. Mortimer A. Lewis of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Hotchkiss, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Adams, Mrs. A. B. Dunham, from Ansonia; Miss Lila Alexander of Omaha, Neb., Rev. and Mrs. George A. Fairbairn of Westport, Miss Bessie Leavensworth of Wallingford, Hon. and Mrs. Edward Day of Seymour. The above, with a large number of local people, attended the reception.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT ORANGE.

Millford, Oct. 30.—Miss Charlotte M. Clark, daughter of Henry M. Clark, of Orange, was married at 6:30 to-night to Edgar T. Clark of Millford. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, and the Rev. Mr. Hunt, of Orange, officiated.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING IN PORTLAND.

Portland, Oct. 30.—At 4:50 this afternoon occurred one of the society events of the year, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Jennie E. Hale, daughter of Representative Asaph H. Hale, to Herbert L. Hall of Meriden. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. W. Smith of the Congregational church, at the residence of the bride's parents, which was elaborately decorated with palms. Following the ceremony was a wedding breakfast, which was attended by 150 invited guests. Bessie of Hartford catered. After a short bridal trip the couple will reside on Olive street in Meriden.

RECTOR'S WEDDING IN HARTFORD.

Hartford, Oct. 30.—Rev. Romilly Francis Humphries of New York and Miss Lizzie Jane Thurston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Thurston of No. 38 Collins street were married at noon today at Christ church by Rev. James W. Bradin, assisted by Rev. James S. Faulcon.

Rev. Mr. Humphries is a graduate of Trinity college and is at present rector of a parish on Staten Island. The wedding was attended by a large number of relatives and friends, many of those in attendance being from out of town.

The bride wore a costume of white satin trimmed with duchesse lace. She wore no jewels and omitted the conventional bride's bouquet, carrying in her hand an elegant white prayer book.

The maid of honor, Miss Katharine Thurston, sister of the bride, was dressed in pure white organdie with a Gainsborough hat of white. She carried a large bunch of white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the bride's home on Collins street.

YELLOW AND WHITE WEDDING.

Meriden, Oct. 30.—A very pretty yellow and white home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill, 203 State street, this afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, when the daughter of the house, Miss Maude Mary Hill, was united in the bonds of wedlock to Alfred Pelton Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wheeler of Lincoln street. Only the relatives and a few immediate friends witnessed the ceremony, at which Rev. Arthur Truman Randall of St. Andrew's officiated.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room, which was decorated in the prevailing yellow and white colors. Palms, ferns and yellow and white chrysanthemums made an effective background to the bridal party.

Previous to the wedding the Brotherhood orchestra of the Center Congregational church, of which the groom is a member, rendered the "Tannhauser March."

As soon as the signal was given the eighteen musicians struck up the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Organist Joseph A. Hill, the bride's brother, conducted the music before and after the ceremony.

The bride's party entered from the west parlor in the following order: First, little Miss Margaret Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Robinson and a niece of the groom, carrying the wedding ring on a silver, then the maid of honor alone, Miss Candora Ann Seelye, then the bride leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away.

The groom and his best man, Frederick Howard Ballard, entered from the east door and met the bride's party when the wedding took place. Only one ring was used. During the ceremony the music was furnished by ten stringed instruments under H. M. Broed's directions. The string orchestra played the Lohengrin music softly, and the effect added much to the scene.

The bride wore a gown of cream bengaline silk, point lace applique, her veil being caught by sprays of lilies of the valley. Bride and groom were carried. Miss Seelye wore a white organdie, over yellow silk costume, and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Robinson wore a gown of white organdie.

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Meriden, Oct. 30.—One of the most charming home weddings of the season occurred at 5:30 this afternoon, when Burdette E. Carpenter of New Britain, and Miss Lillian E. Sloane, daughter of Alderman James R. Sloane, were married at the bride's home, 273 East Main street, by Rev. W. S. Perkins.

The floral decorations were in superb taste. Potted plants and palms adorned the rooms, while the beautiful hues of autumn foliage, tastefully and profusely arranged, added very greatly to the ornamentation. In the bay window were floral gates made of ground and princess vine, with cut flowers prettily interwoven, and as the bridal pair came into the room, the flower maids proceeding, held open these gates, for their reception.

The flower maids were Miss Edna and Sadie Sloane, sister and niece of the bride, respectively; they were gowned in white dotted swiss, carrying pink bridesmaid roses. The bride wore a very handsome costume of white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of bride roses. The ushers were Charles Sloane, the bride's brother, of this city, Adelbert Carpenter, Eugene Parmelee and William Flager, all of New Britain. The bride party entered the room in the order above given, and took their position within the floral gates, the ceremony being short but impressive. Professor G. G. Marble was in charge of the music.
